Museum choice assailed Committee prejudiced by information: Kenney

Haliburton County's historical society has picked a site for a proposed new Kanawa museum despite one municipality's claim that the decision was made too quickly and in an improper manner.

At a public meeting in Haliburton last Thursday, society president Frank Wallace announced that members of the executive judged Glebe Park in Haliburton to be the best location for any new structure which might be built to house the canoe collection now displayed adjacent to Camp Kandalore. Wallace said the Glebe Park site is "favourable" to collection owner Kirk Wipper, and best meets criteria agreed on by the society when it asked for local proposals on a new museum site.

The meeting erupted in controversy moments after Wallace concluded his initial statement. Anson, Hindon and Minden councillor Gary Kenney said he had information from Wipper that would "cast an entirely new light on the matter" and rule acceptance of the Glebe Park site "out of order".

Kenney said he had talked to Wipper by telephone only 45 minutes before the meeting began, and that the museum owner "in no way endorses any proposal."

"His comment to me was that you are proceeding too fast," Kenney told Wallace. "(Wipper) in no way wishes to be involved in a selection process at this level or any other."

Kenney said the board of directors of the Kanawa canoe museum will meet June 14 to draft criteria for relocating the collection, and claimed a decision on a proposed new site in Haliburton County should not be made until the museum board's ideas have been spelled out.

Reading from a letter to Wallace, copies of which were distributed at the meeting, Kenney said that as chairman of the committee which submitted Anson, Hindon and Minden's site proposal he was "compelled to register a formal complaint concerning the process by which it and other proposals...were evaluated."

Kenney claimed that before the society's site selection committee voted (by a 4-2 margin) to endorse the Dysart et al Glebe Park proposal, Wallace told the committee "that Professor Wipper preferred the Dysart proposal...would like the museum on a lake...and) wants more than eight acres of land on which to situate the Kanawa Museum."

Kenney argued that if Wipper's desires "were intended all along to be disclosed prior to your vote, why then were they not made known as part of your stated criteria?"

"Why did (Wallace's) letter...inviting proposals, not state that the site should be on a lake, and of a certain minimum size, in addition to the other details of accessibility, economic benefit, etcetera?" Kenney asked. He said Anson, Hindon and Minden "is able to satisfy the desire for a lakeside setting, and the minimum acreage required by Professor Wipper" as are "all the municipalities that sent proposals" to the site selection committee.

Kenney claimed that by keeping information about Wipper's desire for a lakeside setting "undisclosed until just prior to a vote" by the committee, Wallace "not only dealt unfairly with the proposals submitted but most importantly...narrowed the option sites of this county at the last moment to just one submitted proposal and thereby jeopardize(d) the chances of retaining Kanawa within the Highlands."

Kenney urged the historical society membership not endorse the site selected by the committee but lake, which the Minden site was not. "He understood what he was doing," Wallace said.

The historical society president noted that Wipper might say he doesn't want to be involved in the selection decision "if someone from outside puts pressure on him."

Kenney responded that he had not pressured Wipper, but had merely contacted him by telephone to discuss the matter. He reiterated his claim that the selection committee was unlikely to go against what it understood to be Wipper's wi-

instead, to invite Wipper to receive site selection proposals "and make a selection of his own with all his criteria made known to all interested parties prior to the selection."

Wallace took exception to Kenney's claim that the committee had been prejudiced in favour of the Glebe Park site because Wipper had been consulted and his opinions made known. The historical society president said Wipper did in fact prefer the Dysart site, and that it was "incumbent upon me to find out what his opinion was." He claimed it was "within the criteria" to advise the committee of Wipper's stated preference before the site selection decision was made.

Wallace said he met with Wipper on May 22 and advised the museum owner of the various site proposals the committee had received. At that time Wipper said he favoured the Haliburton site, according to Wallace. The proposals were left with Wipper so that he could examine them in detail, and he was told that his opinion would be important in the board's final selection, Wallace said. When the selection committee said it favoured the Glebe Park site, Wipper agreed, noting that it had "all kinds of space" and was on a shes, and that by telling the committee that Wipper liked the Glebe Park site, Wallace had "prejudged" the decision.

"Personal interests are not involved here," Kenney said. "You have jeopardized a county interest."

Kenney's statement brought charges from some people in the audience that he was trying to undermine the credibility of the site selection committee.

Leopoldina Dobrzynsky said she was "surprised that anyone would go over the committee's head." Ross Carver said he had a feeling that "something funny" was going on, and claimed that Wipper should not be pushed any farther.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey leveled the most stinging criticism at Kenney. He noted that his municipality "has not lowered itself by interfering" in the site selection committee's activities.

"I would think that we're above that in 1984," Fearrey said. "I don't think we want to get into a controversy with Professor Wipper." He noted that the committee has picked "the most favourable site."

More than a hundred people turned out early Saturday morning to take part in a Walk for Wells to help needy villagers in rural India. The walk covered a 20 mile route from Rotary Beach in Haliburton to

Minden budget up 10.6%

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

Despite a 10.6 percent increase in municipal expenditures for 1984, residents of Anson, Hindon and Minden will see an increase of only 4.4 percent in their tax bill this year.

Anson, Hindon and Minden's 1984 budget, released at a special session of council on Monday night, calls for an overall increase in municipal spending from $1,282,025 in 1983, to $1,435,014 for the coming year. Of this amount, $450,809 will come from local taxpayers.

Among the changes to this year's budget is an increase in the funds allocated for Recreation, Culture and Parks. While funding for the library was reduced by $1,621, the amount set aside for parks was increased by 52 percent, from $40,786 to $86,356. In addition, the amount allocated to the art gallery was increased by 40 percent and the amount given to the museum was raised by 62 percent. Additional money was given to the Parks Department in anticipation of a provincial grant to help finance the purchase of gabion baskets for the banks of the Gull River. If the province agrees to help pay for the baskets, the municipality must be able to match the amount provided by the provincial government. Funding of the art gallery was increased partly to compensate for a reduction in county funds, while money was given to the museum in order that repairs to the building could be made.

Other increases included a rise of $19,461 in the amount allocated for by-law enforcement, due to the hiring of a part-time municipal law enforcement officer and the purchase of a new truck to be used for by-law enforcement purposes. The transportation services budget was also increased by 24 percent as a result of rising costs and the improvements now being made to Minden's main street.

Elinor Burke, Clerk-Treasurer for Anson, Hindon and Minden, explained that the difference between the increase in municipal spending and the rise in tax rates is primarily due to provincial grants to the municipality. The smaller increase in tax rates is also a result of assessment increases, Burke said, but she added that the bulk of the municipality's revenue comes from sources other than taxes.

Funds collected through property taxes are divided among the County, the Municipality and the Board of Education. The largest portion of this money, 53 percent, will be spent on education. Of the remaining amount, 38 percent will go to Anson, Hindon and Minden and 9 percent will be given to Haliburton County. This year, county expenditures increased only marginally, while the Board of Education budget called for an increase of 4.7 percent.

Deputy reeve Ed Pergolas, who headed the budget committee, said he is "quite pleased with the 4.4 percent increase. People are wondering how we are doing all this work without a big increase," he said.

Councillor Gary Kenney said he felt the 1984 budget was a good one, but expressed concern that projects such as the work needed at the Scotch Line dump should not get "buried" due to a lack of funds.

Reeve Lyle McKnight also was satisfied with the new budget. "I don't think anyone can complain about that," he said, referring to the 4.4 percent rise in taxes.

Wilberforce Veneer workers off as plant shuts down temporarily

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

An estimated 40 to 45 local residents were laid off work this Monday when the Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Company stopped production.

Ted Samuels, head of Curv-Ply Wood Products of Orono, the company which owns and operates the Wilberforce plant, said he expects the plant to be closed for one or two weeks.

Samuels explained that the decision to stop production at the Wilberforce plant was reached last week. Due to a decline in sales, Samuels said, the company found itself in an "overstocked position." Samuels said the work stoppage is not due to labour problems. "Labour is very happy," Samuels remarked, adding that he believes the plant will re-open shortly and continue to operate until July, when the company will close for summer vacation.

Earlier this year, a pressing operation, also located in Wilberforce, was shut down indefinitely by Curv-Ply due to a decline in business.

Elsie Sibley, the local representative of the International Woodworkers Association, the union with which the plant workers are affiliated, could not be reached for comment on the plant shut down. Keith Tallman, reeve of Monmouth Township, also was unavailable.

Forty years later, D-Day memories vivid

Larry Podmore was there when beach stormed

Forty years ago today, on June 6, 1944, the greatest invasion in the history of the world took place. Within the space of a few hours, 150,000 men stormed onto the beaches of Normandy. They fought bloody battles to establish a foothold in France, and although the cost was high, there was never any doubt that the Allied Forces would push on from the villages of Normandy to liberate Europe from the Third Reich.

Larry Podmore was a major in the Royal Marines in 1944, and on the morning of June 6, he rode a Liberty ship across the channel. His destination as Gold Beach near Vers-sur-Mer, and his responsibility was to co-ordinate the launching of 72 landing craft which would carry part of the British invasion force through miles of ocean swell and onto the beach.

Podmore, who now lives at Drag Lake near Haliburton, is humble about his D-Day involvement. He is quick to point out that he was not directly involved in the combat that morning, nor in the weeks that followed. And yet as an officer, he shared the D-Day secret many days before it was made known to the thousands of men who would actually storm the beaches. And like everyone who took part in the events of that day, he has vivid memories of the buildup, of the agonizing wait when bad weather delayed the invasion, and of the eerie pre dawn silence as the ships steamed across the channel.

Larry Podmore was a five year veteran by 1944. A graduate of Oxford University, he joined the Royal Marines as a second lieutenant in October, 1939. On May 10, 1940, he took part in the invasion of Iceland, an event which was quite unlike the D-Day operation. In Iceland, Podmore laughs, "we were met by three men in bowler hats, a small boy and a dog, and the only thing fired that day was a fire extinguisher."

In August 1940 he was part of an expedition commanded by General Charles DeGaulle which set out to capture Dakar, Senegal from the Vichy French. The expedition spent six months in Freetown, Sierra Leone waiting to respond to an anticipated invasion of the Cape Verde Islands by Hitler's troops.

By January, 1941, Podmore was back in Britain, and training for a number of operations planned for the Royal Marines. In 1943, the Royal Marines were split up into commando units and units working with assault landing craft. Podmore went to Dartmouth to train in boat handling and pilotage. By November, 1943, it was clear that preparations for an Allied invasion were underway. The destination remained a secret however.

"We only knew it was Europe," Podmore recalls.

Hitler guessed that the Allies would land at the Pas de Calais, the narrowest point of the English Channel. Erwin Rommel, the famous Desert Fox, argued that the Allies would choose Normandy. Hitler overruled Rommel, concentrating his heaviest defenses north of Normandy, a decision which helped to ensure that D-Day had at least a reasonable chance of success.

One week before the invasion was to take place, British officers were summoned to the Town Hall in Southampton. A huge, highly detailed map was unveiled, and the D-Day assault was explained. So precise was the planning that every officer came away with a mental picture of the houses, roads and other landmarks his men would face when they reached the French coast. Confidence was high.

"You felt you couldn't go wrong," Podmore recalls. "You felt this was going to work."

"The importance of what we knew was frightening." When the meeting ended, not one word about it was spoken by anyone. Total secrecy prevailed, and in fact, it lasted until the troops actually hit the beaches.

On June 4 Podmore boarded the Liberty ship Halbert in the Solent. Hanging on davits from the side of the ship were 18 landing craft, each capable of putting ashore 33 men. With flat bottoms and twin Ford V8 gasoline engines, the landing craft would surge up the beach, disgorge their load of troops into shallow water, then race back to the mother ship to pick up the next wave of invaders. Podmore's job was to see that the Halbert's landing craft, as well as those on Spearhead, Lance and Mace, arrived at the right destination at the right time.

By four p.m. on June 4, word came that D-Day had to be postponed 24 hours because of unsuitable weather. There was nothing to do but wait, swinging at anchor, anxiety gnawing in each man's gut.

Since radio communication was forbidden, the officers on Podmore's ship wiled away the time by playing a quiz game with other nearby ships, asking questions and answering them with Morse code flashes on an Aldis light.

"We knew that if we didn't land on the sixth" the invasion would have to be cut off at least two weeks, and surprise would be lost, Podmore recalls. But late on the afternoon of June 5, the decision was made to proceed. At about 10 p.m. the fleet began to move down the Solent and out into the wave tossed darkness of the English Channel.

The overwhelming impression for Podmore was of "incredible silence". There was nothing but the beat of the engines" as an estimated 7000 vessels steamed toward France. The only lights were blue warning markers on the stern of each ship. The only human sound was the low murmur of men's voices as they sheltered from the wind. At one point, warships raced through the fleet to take up station near the coast. At dawn they would begin bombarding shore-based defenses.

"There was so much going over that you thought, 'My God, I wouldn't want to be at the other end of this' " Podmore says.

As they neared the French shore in the vague light of dawn, the sky lit up with the flash of bombs. Eight miles out, the ships anchored, the landing craft were swung out, and Larry Podmore points to the spot on the Normandy beach near Vers-sur-Mer where his landing craft brought British troops during the D-Day invasion. This Wednesday, June 6 is the 40th anniversary of the invasion, and many of those who took part are pausing to remember their experiences in those dark days of World War II.

the troops clambered aboard.

Once the invasion force had reached Gold Beach, Podmore boarded a landing craft and himself headed in to co-ordinate the landing of supplies.

"There was no fighting visible to me," he recalls. "The immediate beach area had been cleared." Evidence of the fighting was everywhere, however. Dead men lay in the sand, and German prisoners wandered about, unarmed and no longer resisting. Many of the landing craft were damaged or destroyed, and others had broached in the heavy surf.

A couple of miles away, the Canadian forces were under heavy fire on Juno beach, and the flashes and thunder of explosives were visible as Podmore touched down on Gold Beach.

Heavy machine gun fire still swept over Gold Beach from German emplacements in the direction of Arromanches, but the impression Podmore got on that morning was that at his landing point, at least, the battle had favoured the Allies.

Uncertainty was pervasive for the first few days, but soon it became clear that the Allies would not be driven back. D-Day had been a success.

For seven weeks, Podmore stayed on Gold Beach while vehicles, guns and ammunition were unloaded to bolster the Allies' push.

About a week after D-Day, Podmore managed to hitch hike into the nearby town of Bayeux. There he got a horrifying glimpse of what the war could mean to civilians.

"Right on the curb, for a couple of hundred yards, children were sitting or lying, and they were all wounded." Nuns and medical orderlies were trying to help them, Podmore recalls.

"You felt absolutely helpless. You felt 'what a damned thing this is' "

Looking back on the events of those days, Larry Podmore says he is glad that he and others were not aware of the "bickering" that took place behind the scenes. On June 6, 1944, the invasion force was all one, whether they were British, American or Canadian. They had a dangerous job to do, and they did it as well as they could.

As for Larry Podmore, he describes himself today as "an also swam" on that D-Day morning.

"When I think of the people who did all the fighting, I say 'my God, I had an easy time' "

"Either we have faith in your committee, or we forget this," Fearrey told Wallace.

In responding to Kenney's argument, Fearrey noted that he should perhaps address the Anson, Hindon and Minden councillor as "Dr. Kenney, since you seem to have a cure for everything."

Stanhope reeve Harry Davis drew attention to the fact that several months ago, it was Whipper himself who had pressed for a local site selection decision. From the outset the committee operated with the understanding that Whipper wanted a local site picked before the June 14 Kanawa Museum board meeting, Davis noted.

Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Lyle McKnight emphasized that he wanted to remain neutral on the site selection. He said he had not attended the meeting at which the strategy Kenney adopted was worked out.

McKnight said he felt everything possible should be done to keep the collection in the county, adding that when Whipper's board establishes their own criteria for a new site, "every effort should be made to ensure that they are met."

When the site selection committee's decision in favour of the Glebe Park location was put to a vote among historical society members, it was endorsed by a wide margin.

Efforts to secure corporate sponsorship for a new museum in Haliburton are expected to continue.

McKnight added, however, that there may be a problem with the Library and Cultural Centre because extra money might be needed to pay for repairs and upkeep.

Pergolas stated, however, that the budget contains a cushion of $9,000, some of which could be used for this purpose.

Tactics

Haliburton County may be more than a hundred years old, but in some respects it has a lot of growing up to do. Perhaps in the not too distant future, say another hundred years or so, local residents will awake to find that municipal politicians have cast aside the last vestiges of parochialism and learned to see the county, if not the country, as a whole. In the meantime, ratepayers will continue to read about, if not listen to, councillors who display an inability or unwillingness to see the community in a broader sense than one defined by municipal boundaries.

Last Thursday's meeting of the Haliburton County Historical Society provided ample evidence of how solidly the narrow view of community is entrenched. The society called a public meeting to reveal its decision about the best site within Haliburton County for a new building to house the Kanawa canoe collection. A number of submissions from area municipalities had been reviewed by the six man committee, and in a 4-2 vote, they had selected a site at Glebe Park in Haliburton village as the most desirable, based on criteria that included a central location, inexpensive land, and the maximum economic benefit for the greatest number of people. It was obvious to every municipality that one site would end up at the top of the list. And in submitting a site proposal, each municipality tacitly agreed to abide by the committee's decision. If a municipality was not prepared to accept the committee's opinion, it should not have gone through the exercise of preparing a site proposal and submitting it to the historical society. For that reason, Anson, Hindon and Minden's attempt to undermine the committee's methods and credibility has the unmistakable smell of sour grapes. And its tactic of placing collection owner Kirk Wipper in the awkward position of saying one thing to committee chairman Frank Wallace and allegedly another thing to councillor Gary Kenney, is inexcusable. It is hardly an approach to inspire confidence in Haliburton County as a place deserving the kind of major investment that a new museum would require.

Last Thursday's antics were reprehensible indeed, but in the end, they'll make very little difference to the future of the Kanawa collection. If the collection truly is "world class", its future will not rest solely in the hands and hearts of Haliburton County residents. A "world class" canoe collection is a priceless treasure, and it hardly seems likely that Haliburton County is the most desirable spot for it, no matter how many people may wish to think otherwise.

In memoriam

Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved with mankind; And therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee.

John Donne [1571-1631]
'Devotions'

Communities are neither more nor less than the sum of the people of whom they are made. The death of a good man reduces the community's store of goodness in like proportion.

When Ron Curry died quietly last Tuesday, Haliburton became a poorer place. Intelligent, kind and generous, Ron Curry's interests stretched beyond the boundaries of the local community, encompassing politics, education, the church, the business world, and Rotary projects. He had a lifelong interest in history, and his store of knowledge about the area's past was a treasure he never hesitated to share.

His was life well and generously lived. He made Haliburton a better place than it might have been. He will be missed.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Today the greatest threat to our social order is not the possibility of war but the rise of a disease called bigotry. The Keekstras, the Gadaffis and the Paisleys along with the leaders of the I.R.A., are already destroying the fabric of the world's tenuous social balance. The bigot cannot be reasoned with or called to account. He infects all who listen without critical examination. They are present in all levels of our society. In the teaching profession they infect our children; in the courts they make a mockery of our laws and in the media they twist the news to fit the bigotry of the day. In the forties, Canadian citizens, born in this land, were deprived of their rights, had their property stolen from them and were herded into concentration camps without cause all because other people who looked like them were committing atrocities. At the same time, other Canadian citizens whose ancestry was German or Italian suffered little or no harassment. Greed and racial bigotry made a mockery of our laws and our pretence of democratic principles.

After the war, anti-semitism was still an evil presence in our society in spite of the holocaust. During the war, Canada alone, refused to save any but a pitiful few of the Jewish refugees who were fleeing the death camps. Today it is still present in our body politic, as a low level but destructive fever.

Today, in your paper, I read the comments of three of our local councillors, individuals who repeated the same twisted, illogical and destructive nonsense that is so typical of the true bigot. I would point out, not to them because bigotry is immune to logic, but to those who might be swayed by their nonsense, that there are no Frenchman in the parliament of Canada. There are a number of fourth and fifth generation Canadians who speak either one or both of our official languages. I would also point out that their right to do so was established when Canada was founded and that solemn agreement between the two founding races is as sacred to most Canadians as the Constitution is to our American cousins.

I must also note that our francophone Canadians preceded the anglophone Canadian community by some years. And furthermore, these francophones lived up to their commitment to Canada fully while we did not. The recent shameful outbreak of racial bigotry in Manitoba reinforces the writer's feeling that bigotry may do us in before the atom bomb does.

The only antidote to the virulent disease of bigotry, is education and informed communication. Your paper, Mr. Editor, can do a great deal to counteract its spread in our area.

Sincerely,
H. Michael Collins

To The Editor:

The facts relative to the leachate pollution escaping from the Ingoldsby Dump into surface waters leading into Canning Lake speak for themselves. They are found in a report of hydrogeologists working for the Ontario Ministry of the Environment and are found in a government document dealing with the dump which I urge you to read.

From such facts anyone can draw his own conclusions.

If we do not mind the present dump continuing and enlarging as a proven danger to the nearby lakes we will take the attitude all is well. This was the attitude of the U.S. Government toward the Love Canal Dump.

If we are uneasy about, or even opposed to, the current and future hazard involved in leachate pollution to surface and ground water we will, perhaps, take the view that the dump should be relocated at a safer site as soon as possible. This is the conclusion I reach.

Your front page news story of May 16 based, I believe, on my letter to you and on an interview with Mr. Frank Reinholz of the Provincial Ministry of the Environment seems to imply that there is no real problem worth being troubled about.

But Mr. Reinholz comments, as you faithfully report in your story, that only "through luck" and 125 metres of narrow swampy ditch are the bathing, boating and fishing waters of Canning Lake protected from the leachate springs of the Ingoldsby Dump.

We should also take note of the fact that Mr. Reinholz has indicated that the government may in future "Require certain remedial measures by the municipality". How substantial these might be and what they might cost us he leaves

The big weekend is coming up. One of the main events this weekend will be the sixth annual Kinsmen Home and Vacation Show which is scheduled to be held at the Arena in Haliburton this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 8, 9 and 10. The big attraction, sponsored by the members of the Haliburton Kinsmen Club, will feature something for everyone with various merchants and business people from Haliburton County and other areas displaying their products and merchandise to the hundreds of people who will be attending. It's free admission to the three day show that will also feature the Home Show Dance on Saturday evening at 9 p.m. at the Community Centre with music for the evening being supplied by our own Porcupine Lumber Co. You could also win $1000 worth of merchandise from a participating merchant with the purchase of a $1 draw ticket. The Home and Vacation Show will be open from 12 noon to 10 p.m. on Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and then on Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. The local Kinsmen Club have informed us that they have a good show lined up and are looking forward to seeing you there this weekend.

The Haliburton Branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce held their second Customer Appreciation Day on Friday which gave the local citizens and visitors the opportunity to meet the staff and to sit down and relax and have a coffee and a donut. They are planning on having four of these days each year.

Haliburton's newest business enterprise, the Ashburnam Meat Market, opened its doors for business on Friday morning. The new business which has been opened in the former Cauldron Pharmacy building next to Elstone Motor Sales Limited will carry a complete line of fresh cut meats daily. The ribbon cutting ceremony took place at 10:00 a.m. when Dorothy Baker, representing Ward 1 on council, had the honour of cutting the ribbon and declaring the business open. Ashburnam Meat Market is owned and operated by Wayne Woods, a Haliburton boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Good, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herlihey and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schwandt all left last Wednesday to attend the Rotary International Convention in Birmingham, England. The Rotary Club of Haliburton will be well represented at the convention.

County Warden Lyle McKnight has declared Senior Citizens' Month for the entire month of June in honour of all Senior Citizens in the County of Haliburton.

It doesn't take long for a year to roll around. What do you know, it's time once again for Fun Night at the Victoria Street School in Haliburton this coming Friday evening, June 8. There will be fun and more fun from 7 to 9 p.m. with a hot dog supper served at 6:30 p.m. Among some of the things to do and see will be bingo, movies, tea room, games, haunted house, baking, white elephant sale, Moonwalk Room (dance), and more.

I was talking with Lieut. Sidney Buell of the Salvation Army in Haliburton last Friday and he informed me that up until that time the local Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal was falling well below its objective. A few of the smaller communities are yet to be heard from but if the objective is to be met and the campaign is to go over the top more money is still needed right away. If you haven't sent in your donation please do so today so that the Salvation Army can carry on with their good work.

Last week in my column I told of a recent programme held at a meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton in which Bob English and Al Bull were present as representatives of the Haliburton Ambulance Service. I was in error when I said that for information the ambulance phone number was 457-1751. The correct number if you want the ambulance is 457-1721.

This coming Sunday, June 10 is Pentecost Sunday and the second annual "Praise for Pentecost" community service will be held at the High School in Haliburton. The special guest preacher will be Bishop Desmond Hunt.

We often wonder if the people in Haliburton County who give of their time and efforts in working with the young people receive the credit that they so richly deserve. We particularly are thinking of those who are teaching in our Sunday Schools, youth groups, minor hockey, boy scouts, brownies, guides and other clubs. We salute these people and give them a hearty vote of thanks.

At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton a motion was passed to spend $900 on a new bridge over the waterway at Sam Slick Park. Also the course will be repaired and decorated.

The next time you happen to be downtown in Haliburton drop down and take a look at the brand new paint job that has just been recently completed on the caboose that serves as an information booth. The painting was done by Carroll's Painting and Concepts of Haliburton.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Lorna Ramsay of 171 Morland Avenue in North Bay, Ontario for sending us this most interesting photo. This was the last river-drive on the Drag River in the spring of 1949. The picture was taken just below where the Bishop house now stands. Jim Dean cut the logs on his property near Mud Lake Dam and floated them down to the village where they were sold to the late Claude Austin of Kinmount for his mill. In the picture with Jim are his wife Nellie and Bill Ramsay.

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

Now that we are starting into the month of June, this spring term of Parliament is about to end. By our current rules June 29 is the last possible sitting day.

The Liberal leadership race has brought about a great deal of speculation that there may indeed be a general election before the fall term commences. With this in mind the government has quickly, in the last few days, introduced a number of new Bills into the House. Most of this legislation was promised in the Budget in February but had not yet reached Parliament for debate.

Bill C-35 was introduced and given first reading on May 25th. Its title is, "An Act to amend the Penitentiary Act, the Parole Act and certain consequences thereof". Its purpose is to change the law respecting "mandatory supervision". Mandatory supervision is a form of release from a federal penitentiary which occurs as a result of an inmate accumulating up to one third off his sentence due to appropriate behaviour. It applies to all but those serving life sentences. This Bill has two objectives. The first is to ensure that an offender, who has a release revoked by the National Parole Board for reasons of committing another offence or breaking the conditions of release, will not be able to be released again on mandatory supervision for the balance of his sentence. The second is to allow the National Parole Board to withhold early release on mandatory supervision from inmates who represent a threat to society. Legislation such as this might have prevented the recent escape of two inmates who were on mandatory release orders.

Bill C-36, An Act to Amend the Interest Act, was also introduced on May 25th. Its purpose is to require lending institutions to disclose more information on mortgage carrying charges and restrict the penalty that may be charged if a homeowner prepays his or her mortgage. It will not apply to current mortgages, only to those mortgages renewed after the Bill becomes law. Needless to say, Canadians have been awaiting some assistance from the mortgage squeeze ever since the Progressive Conservative Party's Mortgage Deductibility Plan was rejected by the electorate in 1980.

A second housing bill, C-37, An Act to Amend the National Housing Act, will provide authority to set up a Mortgage Rate Insurance Plan. For a fee of 1½% of the face value of the mortgage, to a maximum of $1,050, a home owner will be able to insure against increases in interest rates. The protection available will be three quarters of the increase in rates above the first two percentage points increase. Increases of more than ten percentage points will not be covered. The coverage will be based on the difference between the renewal rate and a prescribed base rate. Mortgages taken out after March 1st, 1984 will be eligible for this insurance. This Bill also removes the requirement for provincial contributions for the Rural and Native Housing Program, allowing the entire program to be funded federally. A new provision provides for assistance to "Disadvantaged" people for urgently needed repairs and assistance with housing expenses. Mr. Doug Lewis, M.P. (Simcoe North) spoke on this Bill in the House on May 29th and I believe he put this new proposal in its proper context when he said, "The House will know that during the early 1980s the Government instituted a deliberate policy to keep bank interest rates as high as possible. This naturally caused mortgage interest rates to climb to the intolerable level of 14 per cent, 16 per cent, 18 per cent, 20 per cent and even 22 per cent. As a result, families lost their homes through foreclosures or power of sale proceedings, and in a period of rising unemployment and wage and salary cutbacks people found that mortgage payments ate up an increasing proportion of their take-home pay. Real estate values fell as home owners were forced to sell and mortgage terms were reduced from the standard five-year to three-year, two-year, one-year and even six-month terms. The Liberal Party's high interest rate policy created chaos in the housing sector and fear and panic in the minds of Canadian home owners. We in the Progressive Conservative Party continually called for measures which would create stability in the housing sector for the industry and for the home owner. The Liberal Party turned its back on the Canadian home owner and the industry. Finally, faced with the harsh reality of public opinion and demand, the Government relented and in the February Budget the Minister of Finance (Mr. Lalonde) promised certain measures to assist the Canadian home owner. We in the Progressive Conservative Party take pride in finally have forced the Liberal Party to listen to the ordinary people rather than to the banks and other financial institutions."

Queen's Park Report

This week marks the 40th anniversary of one of the most important events of modern history. On D-Day, the 6th of June, 1944, Canadian, British, American and Allied forces were engaged in Operation Overlord: the invasion of north-western Europe and the opening of the second front.

The Normandy campaign of 1944 ranks among the decisive battles of the twentieth century and perhaps of western civilization. Hitler's Nazi empire might have been defeated by Stalin's evil machine, but without an Allied victory in Normandy, the second world war would have destroyed liberal and social democracy in Europe. The terrible gamble of landing on an open and defended shore had to be risked. Allied soldiers had to fight and die in the fields of Normandy so that freedom would prevail.

In that savage three-month campaign, almost 100,000 Canadians took part. Canadian sailors delivered Canadian soldiers to Juno beach, Canadian airmen bested Hitler's Luftwaffe and became the nemesis of his armoured divisions. Canadians from every part of Canada fought their way ashore, battled the finest soldiers in Europe and won their bloodstained way to the Gap below Falaise.

The events of this period are vividly and interestingly detailed from a Canadian viewpoint in a newly published book, "Bloody Victory", by Professor Granatstein of York University, and Professor Desmond Morton of the University of Toronto.

The history of the Normandy campaign has often been written, but even the best of books tend to ignore the Canadians, lumping them with the British, occasionally blaming them for their apparent "slowness". Regimental histories and personal memoirs understandably focus narrowly and often discreetly on the experiences of a few of the thousands of Canadians involved.

Canadians must be reminded of their forgotten army in the great Normandy campaign. In that hot summer of forty years ago, many Canadians went out to fight and die. Over 5,000 of them never returned; 18,000 more suffered wounds of body or mind that transformed or shortened their lives. Because of what they did, the rest of us have known peace and freedom.

Remembering is the least of the obligations we owe them.

Along with the President of France, Her Majesty the Queen, Prime Minister Trudeau and President Reagan, ceremonies marking D-Day will take place this week in Normandy.

I am also pleased that the Honourable Tom Wells representing the people of Ontario will unveil a bronze plaque in the City of Caen on June 7, the inscription of which will read: "In honour of the men and women of the Province of Ontario who served in the Royal Canadian Navy, the Canadian Army, and the Royal Canadian Air Force in the Battle of Normandy, 1944. Erected by the Government and people of the Province of Ontario, Canada, June 7, 1984."

It is important that we remember the part played by our servicemen in the liberation of Europe and it is fitting that we commemorate that service and sacrifice in this way.

Reuben Baetz, Minister of Tourism and Recreation, has announced the appointment of Tom Gibson as Deputy Minister of Tourism and Recreation.

Gibson brings a broad working background in the private and public sector. Active in several industry associations, he has served as treasurer of Attractions Ontario and has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Tourism Industry Association of Canada.

To The Editor:

Today I would like to speak of my admiration for the Haliburton Public Library.

For the past 20 years we have been spending our holidays on Haliburton Lake. Now we have made this our home, spending six months up here and six in Florida.

In all these years I have nothing but the highest praise for the Public Library.

While in Florida this past winter I tried to locate the book by Robert MacNeil, "The Right Place at the Right Time", 1982. It is interesting to note that MacNeil is one of the outstanding newsmen on the American T.V.

Neither in Florida nor in Southern Ontario did the librarians I approached know of the book. But on asking your librarian, Carol Madill, her instant reply was "I know the book. I can get it for you." Once again the Haliburton Library has come out on top.

I feel that a special tribute should go to Carol. Not only I but others agree that nothing is too much trouble for her.

Carol is doing an excellent bit of work for your library.

Sincerely,
Eleanore H. Sovereign

To The Editor:

Having been involved with the planning of the Walk for Wells, the biblical quotation, "You are the salt of the earth" has a special significance for me. We have in our County many persons who gave unstintingly of their time, talent and energy to bring about the Walk, which proved to be a success. On Saturday, when experiencing the enthusiasm of the many volunteers at the check-points, the arousing cheerfulness of the band and pipers, the flawless communicative skills of the Minden Radio Club operators, those who provided refreshments along the route, and especially the walkers (supported by their many sponsors) who walked to the limit of their endurance, I knew that I was in the company of the committed.

Salt is a preservative. Without persons with sensitivity and concern for the desperately needy throughout our world community, society as we know it would surely decay. It would no longer have the salt to preserve its humanitarian values.

Mr. Editor we do appreciate your cooperation in this endeavour. We are greatly encouraged by reports of pledges which are still coming in and expect to have a final report on the total donations to the Walk for Wells soon.

Pledge money collected (put in an envelope with Sponsor's List Sheet), and Donations may be turned in to: Haliburton Radio Shack office; the Minden Bowes and Cocks office; HHSS c/o Mr. John Stouffer; the Lochlin Post Office (Box 25, KOM 2G0). We would appreciate having all pledges in before June 16, 1984.

Gerry Feltham,

Just a note to say to so many readers - you missed it! It is too bad that when there is such an excellent concert as our Grade 9 stage and concert bands put on tonight more people don't support them. It was grand music and those of us who did go enjoyed it.

Baseball begins

Lumbermen win by wide margins

Haliburton Lumber got off to an impressive start in the men's recreational softball league last week, winning both of their scheduled games by convincing margins. Beachli Construction and the Haliburton Kinsmen each registered a win and a loss, while Curry Motors failed to come out on top in either of their games, despite scoring five runs in one of them.

Haliburton Lumber met the Kinsmen in the first game of the new season, but it was no contest as the lumbermen hammered out a dozen runs while holding the Kinsmen off the scoreboard.

Dave Nicholls and Bernie Nicholls came across in the first inning for the lumbermen, but the next two innings were scoreless. In the top of the third, Dwight Sisson, Philip Smith and Rod Sisson each converted single bases into points with help from their teammates to give the lumbermen another three runs.

In the top of the sixth Haliburton Lumber continued to connect for runs, adding seven more before the Kinsmen got the third out to stop the onslaught. Crossing the plate were Mike Hatkoski, Rob Dennys, Dan Mawby, Rod Sisson, Bernie Upton and Dave Nicholls.

The game was called after six innings, giving Haliburton Lumber a 12-0 victory.

The second game last Tuesday evening was a closer affair, although Beachli Construction ended up with a four run advantage when the final out was earned.

The Beachli team made their first session at the plate count, as Tony Salvatori led off with a double, then made it home on later hits, as did Mark Schell and Bob Johnston.

Curry Motors notched a single in the bottom half of the first, as Wade Stamp connected for a double to bring Barry Boice across.

Beachli moved in front 5-1 in the top of the second with Kelly Mitchell and Tim Chambers each rounding the bases after making it safely to first.

Duff Mitchell singled for Curry Motors in the bottom of the second, then scored when Ron Perrin hit into a fielder's choice.

The third inning was scoreless for both teams. Curry Motors added one more run in the bottom of the fourth when Neilson Sisson cracked an RBI single that enabled Wade Stamp to score.

In the bottom of the fifth, the motormen continued to rally, adding two more runs to tie the score at five. Barry Boice and Earl Bull got the points.

The sixth and seventh innings produced nothing for either team, but in the top of the eighth, Beachli batters unloaded for four runs. The drive began when Kelly Mitchell was hit by a pitch. Tim Chambers then got a double, and Tony Salvatori was walked. Mark Schell also got a free trip to first, as did Bob Johnston. The four runs gave Beachli a 9-5 margin, and it held through the bottom of the eighth, as the motormen were unable to get their bats moving effectively.

Thursday night's game was a closer affair, as the Kinsmen managed to get by Beachli by a single run.

Kinsmen hitters drove in two runs in the top of the first, then added another in the fifth to take a two run lead. The builders added one more in the bottom of the seventh but had to settle for a 3-2 defeat.

The second game of the night was a lopsided affair. Curry Motors players were held to only two hits and no runs, while Haliburton Lumber managed to chalk up six runs on seven hits. Scoring were Dave Nicholls in the third, Nicholls and Wayne Speicher in the fifth, and in the seventh, Dave Nicholls, Bernie Nicholls and Dwight Sisson.

Frost Centre plans summer schedule

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

The Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre is preparing to open its doors, its trails and its waterways to visitors, with a series of summer programs designed to introduce the general public to the basic concepts of natural resource management. The programs, to be held every Wednesday and Thursday afternoon beginning on June 21, will also give participants an opportunity to become more familiar with the activities of the Frost Centre itself.

Ann Nicholson, coordinator of the visitor centre and summer program, said the sessions planned for this summer are "incredibly varied." "There is a program for every natural resource," she said, noting that the schedule features talks on such diverse topics as rock cuts, insects and fire fighting.

Last year, 900 people took part in the program, most coming from nearby cottages. Nicholson also pointed out that because each activity is held only once, many visitors return to the centre throughout the summer to take part in several of the sessions which are offered. "We have one couple from Halls Lake who have been to just about every program," she said.

The sessions, which are free and do not require any previous registration, are led by experts who work year round at the centre. Guest speakers will also be brought in to help conduct the Wednesday programs. In addition, this year, a children's program has been added to the centre's list of summer activities. These sessions will take place every Saturday morning and will be restricted to children between the ages of six and twelve. The program is designed to help children gain a greater appreciation of natural resources. Unlike the family sessions held during the week, the children's program does not have a definite schedule. Instead, each Saturday the children will decide on their own activity.

For those who are unable to attend the weekday events, tours of the centre will be given by summer staff, Wednesdays through Sundays. The hiking trails, picnic area and beach on Lake St. Nora will also be open to visitors who wish to stop in at the centre. A special visitor centre will be open on the days which tours are conducted and a ranger's cabin, dating back to the early 1940's, will also be on display.

The Frost Centre is located on Highway 35, just south of Dorset. The centre opened originally in 1945 as a technical school to train Ontario forestry workers. In 1968, however, this training was transferred to the community colleges, and the school was shut down. In 1974, the centre was reopened under its present name. Since that time, the facilities have been used as an education centre where school children and other organized groups from across Ontario can learn about the province's natural resources. The centre occupies 24,000 hectares of land, includes nearly 70 lakes and employs from 30 to 40 people.

Dixie Lee outpointed by Huntsville squad

By JIM MILNE

The Dixie Lee soccer team lost 5-3 to Huntsville last Sunday in Haliburton. Huntsville opened up a 3-0 lead in the first half before Ivor Thompson scored for Dixie Lee. This was a set play from an indirect kick taken in the Huntsville penalty box. There was a great deal of confusion but Paul Milne found Thompson unmarked on the left of Huntsville's defensive wall. Thompson sent the pass solidly into the net.

Huntsville scored again early in the second half but Haliburton came back with two. A penalty kick was called when Paul Milne was pushed by the Huntsville goalie. Milne scored because the goalie dived the wrong way. Shaun Chapman headed Haliburton's next goal in off the crossbar from a corner kick by Scooter Burgess. Although Huntsville scored the last goal the home side put up a good fight.

Paul Vukscic played his first game in goal and thwarted a number of breakaways and dangerous corner kicks. The team will feel more comfortable with two good goalies considering Vukscic and Andrew Shapiera.

Dixie Lee will practise in Haliburton on Thursday night before playing Parry Sound on June 10.

Stored water reached 98.3% of maximum in the Haliburton and Peterborough Counties tributary lakes, on Thursday, May 31. This was in excess of the 10-year average by about 4% for the date, with the lakes generally all within 5-8% of their target levels.

Kawartha Lakes levels which had been higher than summer with a good surplus, rose further with rain over Monday night. From then to the end of the week larger flows have been run and the surplus reduced. As we go toward summer, with wet weather repeatedly threatening, the surplus becomes a liability rather than an asset.

permit will also be issued and it must be carried by the driver whenever using the vehicle.

The plate must be mounted on the front of two and three-wheeled off-road vehicles or on the back of four or more wheeled vehicles.

Anyone under 16 years of age cannot register an off-road vehicle.

Owners of newly purchased vehicles must have a dealer's certificate of sale to register their vehicles. Those who have owned them for some time must sign a self-declaration of ownership supplied by MTC when registering.

"Owners had since February 1, 1984 to register their off-road vehicles," said Minister James Snow. "Under this new registration system, it will be possible to identify those drivers and owners who violate the Off-Road Vehicles Act."

"Both drivers and owners are responsible for violations and for any loss or damage to property caused by the vehicle," Snow added.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Northern Lights

By VIRGINIA MUENZEL

Take time to smell the roses,
Cause all work and no play
Makes Jack a dull boy.
So, gather ye rosebuds while ye may.
I'll never be a poet. But I hope you get my drift.
Some very famous folks wrote these various adages. I don't recall who. But I think I know what they meant.

Sometimes I get depressed because, it seems that everyone accomplishes more than I do. I don't have the stick-to-itiveness to plow into a job, and not quit 'til it's done. I find myself easily distracted by the view outside my windows, (it's quite splendiferous) or the sweet song of the evening grosbeaks, or just the clean scent of cedar laden spring air. Consequently, it takes me much longer than necessary to get those pesky household chores done.

It's not that I'm lazy. At least, I don't think I am. It's just that I had to wait so many years for these simple pleasures, that I want to sample them constantly. I previously saw only other houses, or traffic outside my windows. There were birds, but it was hard to hear their songs over the noise of trucks, and sirens, and horns. As for the air, it contained a lot of elements, but cedar wasn't one of them. I've never yearned to take a deep breath of sulphur dioxide, or chlorine, or burning garbage.

So, you see, I've got to make up for lost time.
When the geese flew over last month, I counted the flocks. It took a lot of time away from scrubbing floors, but they only fly by twice a year.
When the loons cry out, I stop doing dishes, and listen 'til they've gone. There's so few of them, who knows how much longer I'll have the chance.
I sit too long with my morning coffee, watching the fog rise out of the lake, and the sun rising over the hills. I wait for rainbows after a storm. The dust is still there, when the rainbow is gone.

Time is short. And things don't always stay the same. We musn't waste it all on mundane chores.
It's not a sin if your house isn't spotless. So you mow the lawn a day later. It won't go to hay. But spring flowers last so short a time. And birds fly south in winter. We don't know what tomorrow will bring. Take time to smell the roses while you can.

Don't let too many days go by without stopping to look and listen to all the wonderful sights and sounds that have been given to us. Take time to smell the roses, or the clover, or the new mown hay. Stop, and see the trees in the hills, or the deer on the run, or the clear blue lakes. Listen to the songs of the birds, or the rustle of the leaves, or the sounds of the peepers, or the croaking of the frogs. Take a deep breath of fresh air, and thank God it's untainted by the noxious fumes of factories.

Someone recently said to me, "Boy, it must be nice to go canoeing after supper." Like, how dare
I take time off! I replied, "That's what life is all about."

The sun hadn't shone for days. I figured I had done enough laundry, and gardening, and cleaning for one day. Certainly, Ed had put in plenty of work hours. When the lake beckoned, we went. If we hadn't, we would have missed

Senior League

Well readers, by the time this letter reaches you, we will be in the month of June, a lovely time of year. I have to say the black flies are really bad. They get into your eyes and ears.

We would like to say a big thank you to Per4ci and Carrie Drysdale, which is only right. They come over to conduct the games for us every Saturday night.

We see Bill Johnston taking his mother out in her wheelchair to see the birds and flowers and to get some fresh air.

Ada Shorter was out, we don't know the score. We expect there were quite a number more.

There was an interesting service in the chapel on Sunday night. Some residents are sick and not too many are about. After the Thompsons took their part, Rev. Burgess spoke on Jesus, who said, "He that comes to me, I will know what to cast out."

We were sorry to learn of the illness of Rev. Westhaver of Minden United Church. The sympathy from all here goes out to him and Mrs. Westhaver. We hope it won't be too long before he will be restored to health and strength, and be back with us again.

This Monday was Della Curry's birthday. She was 84. We hope many more will be coming her way. We have Edith Welch back to Minden Hospital, nearer to Hyland Crest. When she gets over this we hope everything will be alright. We miss her in the daytime, and pray for her at night.

Monday morning, a game we played was won by Ada Shorter. So we thought it alright that we should report her.

Rev. John James of Haliburton United Church delivered an interesting message this Tuesday concerning the resurrection of Jesus Christ, how he was crucified with much suffering and strength, and how he was resurrected back to everlasting life.

Tuesday night Gordon Houghton from near Carnarvon, Mervyn Rivers from Haliburton, Murray and Shirley Davis from the shore of Horseshoe Lake, came to entertain us. They sure have got what it takes. They sang and played music that was really fine. We'll be glad to have them come back any time.

Instead of fun and fitness Wednesday morning, we had a two hour movie, "The Man from Snowy Mountain". The actors moved with much speed, and were interesting indeed.

In hospital we have Chris Precor. What the trouble is we are not sure. As we write this letter, Jessie Walter says, "A special treatment arise, or something better."

The ladies of the Minden Horticultural Society served a tea party this Thursday, with all kinds of goodies and a party for those who had birthdays in May. There was a delicious birthday cake too. We would like to say a big thank you.

The bingo callers Thursday night were Sid Stamp and Elsie Sadore. Some players were lucky and piled up a real big score. Teddy Carr won five bingos, Della Curry won six. I didn't hear of anyone winning more. Our entertainers came again, this lovely warm day, Grace to lead the singing, Norma, the music to play. Grace always sings a couple of numbers

The other day I noticed an article in the Toronto Star entitled 'New Service'. This new service is a business similar to our 'Fone-a-Friend' program with one difference - a charge of $1 per day.

The service is designed for senior and handicapped people who live alone - they receive a telephone call to make sure they are managing through the day. If there is no answer and the service hasn't been informed that the resident will be away, it will call the emergency numbers, it will call the police and ask them to investigate.

Many people living alone in our County have already made arrangements of this nature with a friend or relative and that is great. However, if you wish to have this service we have many volunteers who are willing to call you and check to see that you are managing and also have a chat.

Edith McArthur, who resides in Minden, will hopefully (she's recovering from an accident), be our Fone-a-Friend convenor. Her job will be to match the volunteer with those who wish the service and call once a month to make sure both parties are happy with the arrangement. It is necessary for us to keep statistics on this program because our office is funded by the Ministry of Community and Social Services. Home Support is here to help you - we care - just give us a call at 457-2941 and let us know how we can assist you.

Did you know

Did you know...that our office has a reference book designed to help anglers become familiar with the fishing waters in specific parts of Ontario?

The book, entitled "Fish Ontario", lists the geographic location of nearly 5000 waters along with the species of fish found in them. For further information about fish in Ontario, we invite you to contact our office or the district Ministry of Natural Resources nearest the area that you intend to fish.

As many of you know, the annual Home and Vacation Show will be held on June 8, 9 and 10 at the Dysart Community Centre and your County Information Centre will be there. We will have a variety of pamphlets and booklets available along with our extensive resource files to assist people with inquiries.

Please keep in mind that we are here to help people of all ages by answering your questions regarding social, health, governmental and environmental subjects. Our office is located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emerson Lumber) in Haliburton and we are open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. So why not drop in or give us a call at 457-2733.

See you at the Home Show!

Danish student enjoys Haliburton's ambience

Village becomes a second home

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

Although the idea of living in a small town was difficult to get used to, Marie Bjorn, this year's Rotary exchange student, says she will find it very hard to leave Haliburton behind. "The people are really great," says the blond Danish teenager. "I was disappointed to start with. I was sure I would go to a big city," she says. Bjorn explains that the school she attended at home, just outside of Copenhagen, had 1200 students. "I couldn't believe it when they told me I was going to a town with 1200 people," she remembers. Now, however, Bjorn says she thinks her year in Canada has been better because she spent it in a town rather than in a large city. "People wouldn't have known who I was in a city," she says. In Haliburton, she explains, people are familiar and this makes her feel at home.

A year away from home has meant a year of new experiences for Bjorn. Peanut butter, soap operas and school buses are just some of the things Bjorn has been introduced to during her stay in Haliburton. "I've eaten more hamburgers this year than I have in my whole life," she says. "Before I came to Canada, I had never seen a football, a hockey, or a baseball game. In Denmark, everyone plays soccer." This winter, Bjorn also learned to skate with a new pair of skates given to her for Christmas by the local Rotarians. "That was a lot of fun," she says, and adds that she found it strange to open her Christmas presents in the morning, rather than on Christmas Eve, when they are traditionally opened in Denmark.

Her stay in Haliburton has also given Bjorn an opportunity to practise her English. Bjorn, who has studied English in Denmark since grade five, says she decided to take part in the Rotary exchange because she wanted to improve her English. In Denmark, Bjorn explains, applicants for the exchange are judged by their academic standing and by their involvement in extra activities. "It's a year out of your life, with no school credits, so you really have to want to do it to apply," she says.

Bjorn says she asked to come to Ontario because she has relatives in Guelph, but there were other factors behind her decision to come to Canada. "I didn't want an American accent," she says, "I thought if I came to Canada my English seeing the five Canada geese resting in the reeds. We'd have perhaps never again been there at the right time to see the delicate marsh flower we had never seen before. We'd have missed the playful beaver, who was having as much fun as we, by slapping his tail, and diving down while we hunted the surface of the lake to see where he came up. He swam back and forth beneath our canoe for half an hour, teasing us, before he tired of the game.

Why would I want to give up that lovely experience to do dishes and plant a couple of extra rows of carrots? To me, to waste such an exquisite gift from God because we want to prove we can plant more, clean more, or build more than the other guy, is like tossing away a very important piece of life.

So...take time to smell the roses. You may never get another chance.

would be better." Even so, Bjorn says she has picked up some Canadian expressions that her mother, who teaches English in Denmark, will criticize. "I say 'eh' sometimes," she laughs.

Although Bjorn says her year in Haliburton has helped her English a great deal, she has also found that a year away has made Speaking Danish more difficult. "I have to concentrate on what I'm saying when I call home," she says. "My family teases me because I say things in Danish in the order that they are said in English."

In addition to learning a language, Bjorn says this year has also helped her to learn about people. During her visit, Bjorn has lived with five families, and she feels this experience has also been beneficial. "It's good to see how other families work," she says. "I've stayed with families having babies and ones having grandchildren." As a result, Bjorn says she thinks she has learned about how people feel at different stages of their lives and also about children.

Attending the local high school has also given Bjorn an opportunity to compare the Canadian education system with the one at home. In Denmark, Bjorn notes, things are not as formal as in Canada. Bjorn says there are not as many rules in Danish schools, but she also notes that in some ways the schools she attended at home were more strict. "We would never get out of school to watch a football game in Denmark," she explains. "School for us is only an academic place. There are no after school activities." As a result, Bjorn believes both systems could learn something from each other.

Leaving friends and family for a year to travel to a strange country has its drawbacks. Bjorn admits that at times it has been hard to be away from her friends in Denmark. "It takes time to make friends in a new place," she explains. Bjorn is quick to point out, however, that she has made good friends in Haliburton and that these people will be as difficult to leave.

Next month, Marie will return to Denmark to continue her studies in the fall. In two years, she hopes to attend university where she is planning on studying law. Her family is also planning to take an exchange student into their home next year, although she does not know yet what country the student will come from.

"The year has gone by so fast," Bjorn says. "There have been so many new things and new people. It will be strange not to be introduced as our Danish exchange student," she adds.

Area students speak out against smoking

Dear Editor:

Why do people start smoking? Is it just because their friends smoke? Probably their parents smoke or they think it's grown-up.

Well, I can tell you one thing, it is not grown-up. It's bad for your lungs! I'd rather have a sweet tooth than a habit of smoking. All it is, is puffing germs and bad diseases into your lungs. You should just be yourself, do what you think is right, not what other people think.

Smoking is one of the worst habits anyone could get into.

Quit before it's too late!

Diseases from smoking are so bad, you won't be able to breathe or talk.

You're not only hurting yourself by smoking, you are hurting other people who don't smoke!

Sincerely yours,

Danielle LaRue SA
Haliburton Highlands S.E.S.

Smoking

Smoking is a habit,
A dirty one to start,
It coats your lungs with nicotine,
And damages your heart.

Smoking is a habit,
Teenagers think it's cool.
It shortens your life span,
So don't be a fool.

Smoking is a habit,
Some people try to break,
It makes you have a terrible cough,
SO STOP FOR GOODNESS SAKE!

Cairne Lee Buchanan
Cardiff P.S.

Smoking

Smoking is a very bad fellow,
After you've used him, your teeth are all yellow!

Some people think smoking is smart,
But actually it's dangerous to your lungs and heart!

When you're in town and just finishing smoking,
The people passing are sure to be choking!

Be smart, don't start!

As a result, each \$1,000 Regular Interest Bond will now pay \$96.67 interest on November 1, 1984. In addition to simple interest at the rates stated above, Series 37 Compound Interest Bonds earn compound interest at the rate of 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ % per annum for the 7 months which began November 1, 1983 and 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ % per annum for the 5 months beginning June 1, 1984.

Sincere sympathy to the family of the late Art Griffin who died last week. Art was a well known trucker in the area who had been unable to work for a long time due to a serious lung problem. He died at his home on Wednesday and funeral service was held from Trinity Full Gospel Church on Saturday, June 2.

Mother and I enjoyed a time of fellowship on Wednesday evening at the pot luck supper at Norland Baptist Church. Following supper we enjoyed Morley Johnston, a Minden native, who is a missionary in Ecuador. He showed slides on the church work in Ecuador, the hardships and poverty and the area where missionaries were murdered by the Acquia Indians back in the early 1950's. When you see the poverty and poor roads you can realize that our missionaries make a real sacrifice to preach the gospel.

Marj. Henderson remains in intensive care in Ross Memorial Hospital and Edwin Grozelle has also been ill in Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay. Perhaps you can remember those folks in some small way.

The 50th anniversary of Roy and Olga Weaver was a big success. A 90 lb. barbecued pig was just one of the goodies enjoyed at the gala banquet.

Mrs. Lila Warburton of Minden spent Thursday with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frances Nesbitt.

Mrs. Ethel Farrow had a visit with Mrs. Reeta McNeil at Haliburton on Monday, while yours truly attended the Avon meeting at the Haliburton Legion hall.

The new "Millworks" store opened this morning, June 2 with a good crowd on hand to participate in the opening ceremonies. Our member of Parliament, Bill Scott, Somerville Reeve Maurice Watson and Bexley Reeve Everett Cameron each congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox on their lovely store, and wished them much success in their new venture. The lower level offers some lovely old antique furniture, craft work, a counter display of silver, a very good selection of bulk foods, which I'm sure will bring in many customers. There's no need to drive to another town to buy your bulk herbal teas, dried fruits, candy, spices and flour. There are many items suitable for gifts, cheese boards, tea pots and cups sets, oven mitts, bird houses, and rolling pins. Wander up a flight of wide steps to the upper level and you can find wicker furniture, more old refinished furniture, and lovely pieces of art work. I forgot to mention there is even an old wood burning white enamel range on the lower level. A wide patio, overhead beams, and hanging flower baskets make the outdoors part attractive. Large round windows facing the highway and several skylights in the roof make the whole setting attractive. Do drop in and see the many items on display. We hope the Wilcox family have a thriving business before very long. They sure have turned the old grist mill - with all its dust and memories - into a real Cinderella!

Pastor Dale Switzer leaves Monday for Calgary where he will attend the Apostolic Church of Pentecost General Conference for the next five days.

Mrs. Jean Shields is home following a holiday in England.

On June 9, the local Royal Canadian Legion branch 519 is hosting the Shevchenko Music Ensemble, featuring Ukrainian, Slavic, and Canadian music, song and dances. A supper precedes the programme, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, June 9. The cost for the supper and concert is just $10 per person. For a really good time of entertainment and good food, keep the date in mind.

Little Christopher Hirstwood celebrated his fourth birthday last Sunday and had his little cousins, Matthew and Rachel Hirstwood, all Bevin and Kyle Hirstwood, all of the Buller Road, as well as Grandma's.

Mrs. Cora Lake, Mrs. Annie Marles and myself all visited Mrs. Marion Newman at Kinmount last Monday. Marion has not been well and was just home from hospital.

Ashburnham Meat Market in Haliburton was officially opened last Wednesday by Dysart et al councillor Dorothy Baker, shown here cutting the ribbon.

Smoking a dangerous habit, students learn

Dear Editor:

On Tuesday, April 17, we had a speaker on Anti-Smoking. She showed us a film on what kind of diseases you can get if you smoke. They were heart disease, lung cancer and emphysema. I hope that no one will get these diseases because on the film we saw a man who could not breathe properly because of his disease. He couldn't even blow out a match. Another man in the film couldn't breathe from his nose or mouth so he had to get a hole cut in the front of his neck for him to breathe. This film really taught me a lot about what smoking can do to you. I hope that from what I have told you, you will change your mind about wanting to smoke.

"Hope, like love, transcends all things. It is a friend, a healer, a maker of dreams."

The rains came; and it rained, and rained and rained. I guess it was the best thing that could happen in the north and western areas of the province where there were forest fires burning, and we are thankful for that. For people who had dug up their gardens, though, especially in clay soil, it made quite a muddy mud pie, which you just stayed out of. Oh well, it will dry up shortly, we hope. We also hope that we don't have a rainy season ahead of us. We haven't ventured into the lake for a swim as yet. However, some of the children have taken the plunge but report that it is B-R-R cold. Maybe we will make it next week.

Walkers go the distance to aid India

Feet sore, legs tired, but spirits high

More than 100 supporters turned out last Saturday to take part in the 33 kilometre Walk for Wells. The walk, sponsored by the Help A Village Effort, or HAVE committee, was held to raise money to drill wells in selected communities in India.

Gerry Feltham, chairman of the HAVE committee, said 106 walkers officially registered for the fund raising event. He added, however, that an additional 20 to 25 walkers who had pledge event, not all of the participants walked the course. Dr. Bob Heyes, who was the first to complete the route, chose to run the entire route. Ron Reid and his wife Toos Reid also ran the 33km distance and were the second and third participants to return to Rotary Beach.

Many local seniors also took part in the walk. Walter Webb, 72, who was accompanied on the walk by his wife Florence, successfully completed sheets, but failed to register, also took part in the walk. Feltham reported that approximately 60 people, or about half of the participants, successfully finished the 33km. course. Feltham said he is encouraged by these results and is now anxiously awaiting the final figures on the amount of money the walk raised. These figures will not be available until participants collect their pledges and turn in their sheets, Feltham said.

The money raised on Saturday will be used to drill wells in the Indian village of Ibrahimpuram and at a school compound in Ahmednagar. Feltham, who visited Ahmednagar and plans to return to India this fall, said, presently, the girls who attend classes at the Clair Bruce Highschool in Ahmednagar must bring their own water to school.

Home Show promises busy weekend

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome everyone to our 6th Annual Home and Vacation Show. Our chairmen Bob Nichol and Walter Thomas have put forth special effort to make this one of the better shows in the past years. They have put together a wide variety of exhibitors so there will be something for everyone.

The Kinsmen Club of Haliburton would like to thank all the participating exhibitors who have made the show possible.

The Home Show is the final project of our Kin year which has been very busy. Our club has held events such as two Six Pack Dances, Fish Derby, Trip draw, and the $1000 merchandise draw. Proceeds from these events have aided Cystic Fibrosis, Christmas Baskets, Scouts and Guides, Senior Games, Ambulance and Red Cross Hospital. Besides these worthwhile community projects the Kinsmen Club sponsors a minor hockey team and a Recreational Men's Ball Team.

In these many ways we are able to support our motto "Serving the Community's Greatest Needs."

Jerry Walker

Doors open on Friday

The annual Haliburton Kinsmen Home Show will get underway this Friday and will continue throughout the weekend.

Official opening ceremonies for the show will take place at the Dysart community centre at noon on Friday. On hand for the occasion will be Dysart et reeve Murray Fearrey, Kinsmen president Jerry Walker, and John Parish, a Dysart councillor and member of the club.

Following the ceremony visitors will have an opportunity to see the displays of scores of exhibitors, whose booths will line the arena floor.

Doors will remain open until 10 p.m.

Arena floor will be packed with exhibits, as in this scene from a past show

The show will resume on Saturday morning at 10 a.m. and will continue through to 10 p.m. Capping the day will be a dance upstairs beginning at 9 p.m. Music will be provided by Porcupine Lumber Company.

On Sunday the doors will open once again at 10 a.m., and exhibits will remain open until 4 p.m. A draw for $1000 worth of merchandise from one of the show participants will take place at 3 p.m.

As well, at 2:30 p.m. draws will take place for prizes offered by participating merchants and at the Kinsmen booth, there will be a draw for various prizes donated by local merchants.

Outside deck worth a look

There are a number of ways to enhance the beauty of a room. Wallpaper, draperies and furniture can transform the plainest room into a decorator's dream. Another way to increase the inside beauty of a room is from the outside - with a wood deck.

Whether for a family room, living room, kitchen, bedroom, or bath, a wood deck can complement your home's exterior design while enhancing its interior space.

For Outdoor Entertaining

If your family is big on backyard barbecues or entertaining guests outdoors, build a deck to accommodate them. An expansive wood deck makes outdoor activities a pleasure.

If there are sliding doors in the dining room, an assortment of potted plants around the new deck will serve as a visual extension of the dining room to give indoor dining a brighter outlook.

Bedroom Sundeck

Building a wood deck, fenced in for privacy, outside a bedroom will add a great place for sunning, reading or just relaxing. For easy access, install sliding doors.

Funds raised to help find cure for Cystic Fibrosis

Cystic Fibrosis was not recognized until 1938. Today it is known as the most common incurable genetic disease of children.

Children and adults with C.F. often look normal because the disorder is internal. The abnormally high salt content in the sweat of a person with C.F. simplifies diagnosis. C.F. affects the lungs, digestive system and sweat glands, as well as other fluid producing glands in the body. In the lungs, thick mucus can make breathing difficult and create an environment ideal for infections.

Repeated infection damages the lungs and may lead to respiratory failure which places a serious burden on the heart. In the digestive system the thick mucus blocks the flow of pancreatic enzymes necessary for normal digestion. Without the benefit of complete nutrients received from normal digestion growth may be slowed.

Complications which accompany this hereditary disorder can vary from mild to severe. Many C.F. patients can enjoy a fuller life when comprehensive daily treatments

Good windows save energy year round

Energy conservation is always in favour, whether building a new house or remodeling an old one. One way to do it is with adequate insulation in the walls, ceiling and floors over unheated crawl spaces.

In older homes, it's known as retrofitting, or bringing a home's insulation up to today's standards in order to conserve energy. One of the most important sources of heat loss in older homes is in ill-fitting windows that lack proper weatherstripping.

The most energy-efficient window is the best window you can buy. The materials that go into the manufacture of a window are what helps it to conserve energy. Wood is used in the frame and sash of well-made, energy-efficient windows because wood is a natural insulator.

Double-pane, insulating glass - two panes of glass with an insulating layer of air between - or a separate storm sash sharply reduces heat loss through the glass.

Factory-applied weatherstripping, more weather-tight than the kind applied by a home handyman, dramatically limits heat-robbing air infiltration.

Murray Fearrey and John Eakins open a past show

Coordination is key to home decorating

What's the word for today's home decorating? Try "coordination": the word sums up the pulled-together look the well dressed home will wear - and the way to get it.

Coordinated fabrics and wallcoverings have long been a basic in the custom decorator's bag of tricks, because they give a room an instant "finish". But, the news is that now, you don't have to have a sky's-the-limit budget. Today's coordinates are truly affordable - and as easy to find as the nearest wallcovering store.

There you'll see whole collections of wallcoverings and fabrics designed for coordination.

Included are tiny country florals, period stripes, paisleys and crisp, new checks. Colours are planned so that florals can team with stripes or checks - and the delightful small scale makes it possible to decorate a room with two, three or more wallcovering patterns and a coordinating fabric.

Kinsmen Club began in 1920

The Association of Kinsmen Clubs is an organization of young men and women across Canada whose motto is, "Serving the Community's Greatest Need".

The Association began as the idea of one man, Hal Rogers, O.C., O.B.E., back in Hamilton, Ontario in 1920. It was he who brought together young men in the community of Hamilton, and formed the first Kinsmen Club. His idea spread and today, Kinsmen Clubs are located from one end of Canada to the other and, together with their associate and auxiliary clubs, Kinettes, K-40 and K-ettes, form one of the most active service clubs in Canada.

The types of community service undertaken by clubs of the Association are as varied as the communities in which they are located. Service projects, both great and small, both personal and financial, are undertaken each year bearing witness to the Association's motto and the dream of its founder.

Major Kinsmen service projects include support for Cystic Fibrosis research, and support for the disabled through the Kinsmen foundations in British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

The Association of Kinsmen Clubs, through its local Kinsmen Clubs, serve all young men between the ages of 21 and 40. These clubs are served by a National Headquarters staff, located in Cambridge, Ontario, providing information on programs, membership and other areas.

Cystic Fibrosis effects one in every 1800 Canadian children

and therapy are begun after early diagnosis.
Until the exact cause of Cystic Fibrosis is known a cure or control is not possible.

How does C.F. occur?
C.F. occurs when a child inherits two genes for the condition, one from each parent. When this circumstance exists each pregnancy brings - a 25% risk that the child will be born with C.F. - 1 50% chance that the child will not have C.F. but will be a C.F. carrier - a 25% chance that the child will neither have C.F. nor be a carrier.
Some parents have more than one C.F. affected child. If only one parent carries the C.F. gene their children may be carriers, but they won't have the disease. People who are carriers don't know that they are because they neither have the disease or any of its symptoms.

At present there is no reliable prenatal test, such as amniocentesis, to detect C.F. in an unborn infant. This is another area in which C.F. research is being conducted.

How is C.F. diagnosed?
Analysis for an abnormally high salt content in an individual's sweat aids in the detection of C.F. A "sweat test" usually confirms the diagnosis when other symptoms are present.

What are the signs and symptoms of C.F.?
1) Constant cough producing thick mucus.
2) Excessive appetite but loss of weight.
3) Frequent, large, foul-smelling bowel movement.
4) Excessive salty taste to skin.

5) Repeated or prolonged bouts of pneumonia.
C.F. may be confused with other children's diseases such as asthma, chronic bronchitis, repeated pneumonia and celiac disease. It is recommended that the family doctor be consulted when two or more of the signs and symptoms are present.

Cystic Fibrosis in Canada
Approximately one in every 1800 children born in Canada has C.F. but many go undiagnosed.
It is estimated that one in every 20 people is a carrier of the recessive C.F. gene. C.F. occurs when a child inherits two genes for the conditions, one from each parent. The parents are carriers, but show no sign of the disease. With each pregnancy, these parents run a
1) one-in-four risk that the child will have C.F.

2) one-in-four chance the child will be normal.
3) two-in-four possibility that the child will be a symptomless carrier of the C.F. gene.
At present there are no reliable tests to detect carriers of the C.F. gene or C.F. in an unborn child.
Treatment and Care
Once the disorder has been diagnosed the patient's response to an individualized management program is reviewed during periodic visits to a C.F. clinic. At home daily therapy includes: postural drainage, breathing exercises and antibiotic inhalation therapy using a mask. The various medications prescribed aid digestion, provide vitamin supplements and help to ward off lung infection and disease.

While treatments vary with each individual, a child with C.F. may take more than 50 pills and capsules daily.
Treatment can run into thousands of dollars yearly. Governments help families meet the cost of drugs and in some provinces home equipment.
Family life must be planned around treatment and therapy. These challenges to normal family living are multiplied when there is more than one child with C.F. in the family.
Can C.F. be cured?
At the present time, no. A comprehensive management and treatment program begun after diagnosis helps increase life expectancy. Some C.F. patients are now in their twenties and thirties.

Through basic and applied research supported by the C.C.F. Foundation scientists are studying:
The gastro-intestinal and nutritional aspects of C.F. The nature and progress of lung disease in C.F. along with the effects of treatment and therapy. Methods of carrier and prenatal detection, as well as searching for a basic cure.
Since the disease only occurs in humans, and cannot be studied in animals, the person with C.F. and their family are essential members of the research team.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD

It is interesting to read of people celebrating Ontario's Bicentennial year with the planting of trees, holding special post office days, planning masquerades and costumes parades, etc., but disappointing to find a lack of enthusiasm for this great occasion in Wilberforce. It looks as though we have to be content with the addition of the Bicentennial flag to the flag pole at the municipal office.

However, there is one place where our past history has received great attention and that is at our elementary school. Here the pupils have been delving into past customs since last fall.

They have experimented with the making of apple butter and learned how to store it in wax sealed jars. They have made bread the old fashioned way, the best part of all this being a lunch where everyone tasted the bread spread with apple butter. Accompanied by milk and fresh vegetables this constituted a pioneer meal. They made a quilt using paper squares which they decorated with designs made from seeds. The squares put together were mounted on burlap material.

To learn about our most important industry, lumbering, the children gained a knowledge of the early method employed by watching a film, made by Ron Storey and called "Horse Power". A trip to Martin's mill showed the modern machinery used in cutting lumber.

Mrs. Beatrice Herlihey visited the school and told of teaching as it was done in the early thirties.

We can give thanks to teachers like Pat Clarke who have made the pupils aware of what Ontario's Bicentennial year is all about. In the library is a book produced by the children of grades one and two and depicting their idea of what they saw at Martin's mill. You will be pleasantly surprised to see what they have accomplished. The book has great appeal especially to members of the family.

Memories are still keen about events of the early twenties in Wilberforce. An outline of activities of the year begins with the 24th of May holiday. Attended by all residents, it was held in the Methodist Church in South Wilberforce. It was always a day to remember. All events were planned well ahead of time and there were plenty of volunteers willing to lend a hand. Races were run through the day, on foot and on horseback. Demonstrations of skill with the fiddle and vigorous step dancing were part of the fun. Great supplies of food were served up by the ladies. If it rained everyone moved into a long drive shed. I wonder what they did with the horses when this happened?

Another big annual event took place on the 3rd of June when the Red Cross officials held their picnic. Baseball was the drawing card of the day. Teams from many outlying districts arrived in Wilberforce to participate in this popular game of hard ball. Among other events organized to hold the interest of the people was a greasy pole on the top of which was fastened a $2 bill. Some remember to this day the efforts of Bill Jeffries who spent the day trying to retrieve that large sum and that he finally succeeded.

There was great preparation for the July 12 Orange Parade. Lodges from neighbouring communities gathered to celebrate the Battle of the Boyne. There was always a big white horse ridden by the Grand Master. Fife and drum provided the music. Alf Schofield, being the only one who could play the fife, was always in demand and for the day's service was paid the sum of $5. He later trained Wm. Liscombe and others to play this instrument. A special train was used that day to carry the Lodge members. Clarence Godfrey on one such occasion had the foresight to erect a big tent containing a stove and was kept busy through the day serving meals.

October 31 heralded the Hallowe'en masquerade, held in the Orange Hall and attended by most of the townsfolk with everyone in costume. Big moment came with the judging of the costumes. This was accomplished with the judges seated in the centre of the room and the contestants circling slowly in twos.

December brought the school concert, held again in the Orange Hall. Admission was 25 cents. Weeks of preparation had gone into this evening's entertainment. The hall was always filled to capacity with proud parents, aunts, uncles and grandparents. The proceeds were used for the community. At one time enough money was raised to equip the baseball team. At another time 12 tobaggans were purchased. These were of various lengths, the longest being 16' and capable of seating five or six people. From child to adult everyone used these tobaggans and enjoyed flying down the long hill behind the school house.

An event that took place weekly and still remembered was the picnic that members of the Anglican Church attended every Sunday. They spent the day at a sandy beach on Grace Lake. Church service must have been held in the evening.

Monies from the Red Cross picnic and masquerade went toward upkeep of the Outpost. Another source of revenue for the Red Cross came from plays presented by local talent. These were popular, the plays being selected from a large book.

Actors of the time were Fred Agnew, Betty Byers, Harvey Rose, Doris Fleming and many others.

Bill's Hills had its season opener - Amateur Hillclimb on May 20. The results were as follows: In the 80cc class, first place went to Danny Billing of Wilberforce with a time of 14.57 seconds. In the 125cc class, first place went to Bruce Van Beek of Lindsay with a time of 11.35 seconds. Second place, Andrew Grimes of Lindsay with a time of 11.37 seconds. Third place, Dave Tinney of Cobourg with a time of 11.38 seconds. In the 250cc class, first place to Doug Rose of Harwood, time: 11.34 seconds. Second place, Paul Preston of Bethany with a time of 11.40 seconds. In the over 250cc class, Jamie Keast of Lindsay, time 9:47. Placing second was Ted Wilkens of Kilmount with a time of 9:56. Ted Wilkens set the best time of the day with 9:06 seconds which he set in practice run.

Bill's Hills is in the process of building a new hill designed for the amateur, gas-powered machines. "Mount Williams" is going to be made steeper and more difficult for the "nitro-burners" who will be trying their skills on July 8 at the STP Canadian National Motorcycle Hillclimb Championship.

Busy Beavers complete fourth year

SUBMITTED

Tuesday, May 29 a "Dads and Lads" supper was held in the Harcourt Community Chapel basement to mark the completion of the Busy Beavers Boys' Club's fourth year.

Ruby Way served a meal that was very much enjoyed by the nearly 40 people who attended. Her efforts were much appreciated by both the boys and their fathers.

Four years ago Paul Way, Jake Pothaar and Charles Hughes sensed the need for a programme for boys in the age range of six to 12 years. They started the Busy Beavers Boys' Club and developed a programme designed to aid in the physical, mental, social and spiritual growth of boys of this age group. This is achieved through varied activities including sports, crafts, nature lore, films and devotionals. This group has been well received with attendance reaching a high of 32 boys and recently running about 20 boys.

At the closing supper 12 awards for attendance were given to boys who had been present 25 of the 30 nights in the past year. Seven of these had perfect attendance and were congratulated for their efforts.

Busy Beavers Boys' Club is just one of four youth activities at Harcourt Community Chapel. Others include Sunday School with a weekly average attendance in the fifties, a Girls' Club in which 10 to 15 girls are involved and a Young People's programme with about 20 teenagers.

September to June. They are always looking for fresh blood and would welcome any newcomers who would care to join and partake of the various activities. The club meets every Wednesday afternoon during standard time and evenings when daylight saving time is in effect. Entertainment consists of Bingo, Shuffleboard, Cards, Scrabble, VCR movies and sociability. The first meeting of the month is either pot luck lunch or dinner, or having a meal out. There is lots of fun and good times for everyone, so why not give it a try?

We would like to wish a very happy birthday to our two local merchants, Jack Clayton and Brad Robinson, who both celebrated on June 6, the same day but not the same year. They are both hard working gentlemen we couldn't get along without.

Ray and Libby Porth celebrated their first year in Dorset, Ray being the pastor of the Anglican Lake of Bays Mission churches. The Porths enjoy the rural life and have adjusted well into the local scene. We wish them well and hope they will continue to enjoy our community.

We are happy to see that Joe Lamothe, who writes the yearly news is back in business after having major surgery at Toronto General Hospital. We enjoy Joe's outspoken, witty writings. Welcome back, Joe.

The hummingbirds are enjoying their ambrosia in the feeders. I didn't know if they would be here yet but put out the feeders anyway. Sure enough, an hour after the feeders were there were the birds, looking like miniature helicopters, hovering around and finally sipping the sweet liquid from the feeder. They're beautiful to watch.

And isn't there a better way to start the day than getting up in the morning?

H.H. If, when you get home from the store you find some of the eggs stuck to the carton, just wet the carton by setting in the sink or a pan of water for a few minutes. This will loosen them and they can be removed without breaking.

First I need to make a correction: it was Shane, not Stan Sisson whose house is being built.

David Pequegnat has been a recent visitor at the home of his mother, Petra Pequegnat, and with Carol and Ted Duncan at their Redstone Lake cottage.

Cindy Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Cooper, was entertained at a small wedding shower at Earl and Eleanor Cooper's last Wednesday. Cindy and Ian Foster are residing in Mississauga.

Several members of St. Andrew's Church joined many other congregations in the Deanery of Victoria-Haliburton on May 27 in Christ Church, Bobcaygeon at a special service of praise. All the clergy of the deanery were present as well as Bishop Hunt and his wife from Lakefield.

Andy Cooper, E. Cooper and Bernie Nicholls supported the Walk for Wells in Haliburton on June 2. Jean Henderson assisted in the walkathon by supervising at one of the check points along the way.

Sid and Louise Cooper attended David Shapiera's wedding in Trenton on the weekend.

Bonnie and Randy Jennings and baby son, Jason, visited at Ken Stevens' home recently.

Cindy and Phillip Barry are beginning to build also, near Carl Barry's house.

The new time of St. Andrew's Church service for the summer months is 9 a.m.

A customer in a barber shop asked the barber, "Why do you have magazines on the table here, with stories of horrible murders, mysteries, and ghosts?" The barber declared without a smile, "Well, it makes the customer's hair stand on end, and then it's easier to cut."

WHAT ELECTRICITY HAS TO OFFER

Most people know that electrically heating your home costs less than heating it with oil. But, do you know that in many communities it costs about the same as heating with natural gas. Yet, electricity has a lot more to offer.

Electric heating is very versatile and offers a wide range of clean and comfortable systems. Most systems can be used alone to heat your home totally with electricity - or - if your oil furnace is in good condition but you want to reduce fuel bills, a dual energy system [adding some electric heat to work with your oil furnace] is an economical way to heat your home.

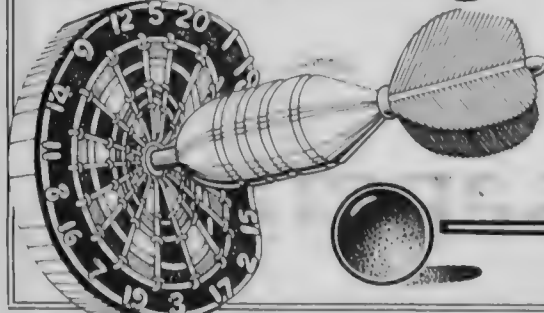

Each Electric system has its own special advantage. For example, Electric Hydronic Boilers (Hot Water Heating Systems) are very compact and space saving; heat pumps provide air conditioning as well as heating for year round comfort; forced air furnaces and plenum heaters use existing ductwork; baseboards and other unitary systems offer the comfort and energy savings of individual room temperature control (Why heat rooms you don't use!).

Electric heating is efficient, economical, safe and clean - and - many systems don't require upgrading your existing electrical service.

For all the details on efficient, economical, safe and clean electricity visit, The Ontario Hydro Booth at the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton's 1984 Home and Vacation Show.

Robertson of Haliburton, along with Deputy Zone Commander Ted Jones, was assisted by Al Hall. Zone secretary treasurer for the men, Sylvia Sisson, helped with installation of the men. Guest Sergeant at Arms Leo Ladouceur of Bobcaygeon was present for the ceremonies. Installed for the men were: president, Ivan Jones; first vice president, Don Ragan; second vice president, Jim Hockley; sergeant at Arms, Albert Crego; secretary treasurer, Al Young. Installed for the Ladies' Auxiliary were: president, Vi Crego; first vice president, Kay Allen; second vice president, Lil Taylor; sergeant at arms, Dora Lilley; secretary, Dagmar Simpson; treasurer, Mary Snodden. Congratulations to Dora Lilley on her $145 bingo jackpot at Norland last Monday evening.

Don't forget to mark your calendar with these dates: June 30, Saturday, 11:00 a.m. That's when you'll enjoy Open House at the Kinmount Railway Station. Then on Sunday, July 1 at 2:00 p.m. the Kinmount Civic Action Committee will be celebrating the Bicentennial at the Kinmount Fair grounds. At 2 p.m. there will be a craft show, hay rides and pony rides, 2:30 p.m. is horseshoe pitching time and children's gymnastics. At 3 p.m. there will be races for children and adults and entertainment. Then the Pioneer Open Fashion Show comes along at 4 p.m. At 5 p.m. it's time for all you square dancers to strut your stuff. Home baking will be auctioned off at 5:30 p.m. and for this section of the day's festivities your entries of baking and sewing for the contests has a deadline of 12 noon. Enjoy a delicious roast beef dinner at 6:30 p.m. Advance tickets are $6.50 and you can purchase them at the door for $7.50. An Ecumenical Church Service will take place at 8 p.m. A food concession will be open through the day. Antiques and Pioneer Crafts will be on display along with Pioneer Living. At dusk there will be a fireworks display, so it looks like our Action Committee has done it again. They've really worked hard at getting this big day together so now it's up to all the rest of us. Let's show them we appreciate their efforts. See you there.

I've come across a recipe which I plan to try very soon and thought you might like to give it a go. Seed Cake: 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 stick margarine or butter, 1 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon extract, 1/2 cup coconut, 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds, 1 teaspoon sesame seeds. Cream egg, butter and sugar until fluffy. Add milk alternately with dry ingredients. Bake in 350° oven until golden brown about half an hour if pan is shallow, longer if baked in a loaf pan. Test with straw.

Browndale residents who were able to attend school went to the public system. Seven years ago, the Government established a section in the General Legislative Grants allowing treatment facilities such as Browndale to make agreements with Boards of Education. The Board employed teachers who would teach young people in the centres with the help of teachers' aides, supplied by the Treatment Centre. The Government of Ontario would pay the complete salary of the teachers, plus an allowance for supplies and a "start-up" grant for furniture and other capital equipment.

A this time the Board of Education and Kinark have reached an agreement to establish a school setting for resident students in Haliburton County, it is hoped adjacent to the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School. The location of the school is important because the secondary school is located in the village of Haliburton and therefore buses come from most parts of the county to the village. The unit would have two teachers, paid by the Ontario Government, and Kinark would have two care workers. The enrolment in the unit would not be greater than 16 students.

In order to administer the complete programme for Haliburton County which is planned for Kinark, there will be Programme Manager, Social Worker, Family Worker, Child Care Worker and a Secretary. This staff will work with families of children who are having problems. These people would be housed in a different location from the day school unit. Kinark have been granted about $250,000 to pay for their share of the work in Haliburton County.

For the Day School unit the Board, in conjunction with Kinark, would have to have roughly 2,000 square feet of space. It has been suggested that the School Board get some type of modular housing and rent it back to Kinark. It is estimated that a building to provide 2,000 square feet would cost approximately $55,000.

The Board resolved to supply approximately 2,000 square feet of housing, including required heat, hydro, plumbing, etc., adjacent to the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School for the Kinark Programme, commencing September, 1984, in return for a "fair" rent, 50% of which shall be paid by Kinark.

Cheryl Murdoch, chairman of the salary committee, reported that the committee has met with C.U.P.E. and the secondary and elementary school teachers. No settlements have been reached.

The chairman of the selection committee for a new director, Len Salvatori, reported that the Ministry of Education has approved the appointment of Stuart Baker and that a copy of the letter of approval has been sent to each Board member.

Stuart W. Baker will be hired as Director of Education for a five year term, to be reviewed at the end of four years, duties to commence on August 1, 1984, annual salary to be $63,000. This appointment must be approved by the Minister of Education.

Doug Hodgson reported that in order to fill the staffing vacancies in the schools, the following appointments were made: Mary Medley - transferred from Archie Stouffer Elementary School to Haliburton Highlands Secondary School; Debbie Wales - transferred from the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School to the Archie Stouffer Elementary School; Mildred Reber - transferred from Tallpines School to the Cardiff Elementary School.

Brenda Brown will be offered a second probationary contract to teach half time at the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School for the 1984-85 School Year.

Nancy Anderson will be offered a second probationary contract to teach a 70% timetable at the Wilberforce Elementary School, for the 1984-85 School Year.

Ross Anderson declared a conflict of interest and refrained from either discussing or voting on this motion.

Georgina Boyle will be offered a Permanent Contract to teach full time at the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School for the 1984-85 School Year.

The Board waived the fees charged to the Highlands Little Theatre for May 10, 11, 12, 1984, in order that they are able to send the money to the Hospital for Sick Children.

Expenditures for the month of March, 1984 in the amount of $615,733.68 were approved.

Expenditures for the month of April, 1984 in the amount of $676,095.12 were approved.

The Board raised the student rate for Driver Education from $85 to $95 and the adult rate from $120 to $130 for the 1984-85 School Year.

The members of the Board instructed Stuart Baker that in the Fall of 1984 there is to be an evaluation of the special education resource workers, namely - Lynda Easton, speech correctionist, Cathy Nicholson, occupational therapist-sensory integration, Blanche Turner, psycho-educational consultant.

Among the group at the Senior Citizens' Club last week were Ina and Len Smith, who have just returned from their winter home in Florida, and Eva and Carl Sisson, who are visiting with their daughter and son-in-law, Yvonne and Elgin MacDuff.

Anne Franke is visiting her mother, sister, and other relatives in Germany and Switzerland. We know she will be enjoying a well-deserved holiday.

Brian and Peggy Dermott returned recently from a very pleasant visit with their daughter and son-in-law and family in Sicamous, B.C. They flew to Calgary and were thrilled with the spectacular and majestic scenery as they travelled by train through the mountains. They enjoyed boat trips and Brian's pictures of lake trout caught attest to his fishing skill.

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized last Saturday in the United Church when Cammie, youngest daughter of Beatrice and Howard Hillis, became the bride of Ronnie MacDuff, son of Rosaline and Kenneth MacDuff.

Maurice Bradley officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Wedding music was provided by Jean Goff. The bride, in her long white gown with attached train, matching headpiece and veil, and carrying red roses, entered the church on the arm of her father. She chose as her maid of honour Caroline Mueller, while her bridesmaids were Angela Dillabough and Lisa Sisson. They all were gowned in blue and carried dainty lacy parasols.

Greg Rummelgas acted as best man, while the ushers were Reg. MacDuff, brother of the groom, and Robbie Billings. Natasha Gill was a sweet little flower girl and Richard Simmons made a charming ring bearer.

After the ceremony the bridal party retired to the Community Centre for the reception and buffet dinner, followed by a dance.

We extend our congratulations and trust that the skies above this happy couple may always be fair as they start out together on the "Trail of Happiness".

Congratulations to Dianne Madill, who was one of 20 graduates of the Sir Sandford Fleming sponsored course - "Health Care Aide". These exercises were held at the Haliburton Legion Hall last Friday night. Dianne will continue her nursing at Hali-burton Extensicare until September, when she will start training for her R.N.A. at Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. We wish her continued success in her chosen career.

The young ladies' ball team started the season with three games away from home. They won the first two and will play the third on June 7. The next three games are home ones - playing Snowdon on June 12, Ingoldsby on June 19 and Galway on June 26. Come out and support our teams!

The men's team played Kinmount last Sunday at Gooderham. Although Gooderham lost, 9-4, it was a good game. Let's give them some vocal support. They play each Sunday afternoon.

terans of the National Federation of King Albert the First recognized him for service in Belgium in 1940. After 40 years Mr. Buxey was presented with a beautiful medal, a certificate, and a 22 by 14 inch scroll signed by the National President and the National Belgium Administrative. He was deemed always welcome in Belgium without need of a visa. I think Mr. Buxey, who fought with the British Force, should be commended on this honourable accomplishment.
